

“The Christian of the future will be a mystic or will not exist.” -Karl Rahner SJ

Spiritual Retreat at St. James Episcopal Church, October 5, 9am-noon

Author Carl McColman will dive into the wisdom of mystics. We'll consider Julian of Norwich, Evelyn Underhill, Howard Thurman, the anonymous author of The Cloud of Unknowing, and others. Carl is dedicated to exploring the common ground between faith traditions, connecting points between Christian, Buddhist and Nature-based wisdom.

We'll have time to put the mystics' teachings and insights into practice, with centering prayer and plenty of time for personal reflection. Coffee and pastries included!

Carl McColman is an author, blogger, spiritual director, retreat leader, speaker and teacher on mystical spirituality and contemplative living. Carl is a Lay Cistercian (a lay associate of the Trappists), a commissioned presenter of Centering Prayer Introductory Workshops, and a co-host of the Encountering Silence podcast. Carl lives with his wife, artist Fran McColman, in Georgia.
